Gallery Talk - 5pm

with Richard Foa, woodturning artist,
and with a local quilting artisan.

“While I enjoy making classically turned objects such as bowls, platters, and small utensils, my current artistic focus is on wood sculpture, often starting with turned elements and frequently incorporating a variety of found objects. With classical woodturning I strive to create elegant yet practical items that reveal the beauty of the grain and the color of the wood from which they are made. With my sculpture, I seek to offer generally wry commentary on contemporary culture in a manner that offers insight while bringing smiles to the faces of the viewers of my work.”
